

Codling Moth Spray Timing Information, First and Second Generations

After the date shown under “First Gen. End of Egg Hatch,” the fruit does not need to be protected, so you will wait to apply your next spray at the start of the second generation. Then, note that codling moth larvae can potentially damage fruit from the start of the Second Generation to the end of the season. With this in mind, we recommended applying treatments at regular intervals (depending on the insecticide you are using) to protect fruit from the start of second generation to September 15. Or at the bare minimum, keep fruit protected during the “period of greatest egg hatch” for each generation.
